FOREWORD

It has been our aim in publishing this book to present to the student body a remembrance of the years 1947-1948. We appreciate the help and advice of our sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Walters, in publishing this book. If this book reflects the traditions of the school and faithfully mirrors the events of the past year, the aims of the Staff will have been realized.

DEDICATION

We, the Senior Class of 1948, jointly dedicate this year book to W. C. McKay, County Superintendent, and to the Como Board of Education for their interest, efforts, counsel and advice in improving the school's transportation facilities and their other endeavors for school and community betterment.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

High School graduates often ask: "What is an education for?" Certainly it should increase one's learning capacity; it should help one find employment; but such results are by-products of education. The main results of the right kind of education are an increased capacity to serve and to enjoy life in its higher reaches.

It is our hope that you have gained the proper values of life that will enable you to use the knowledge you have obtained for a happier and more useful life.

Thomas Walters

To a very nice and sincere student Banks.

PRINCIPAL'S

MESSAGE

At the end of this school year we will have planted another mile-post in our journey through life. I hope that when you pause at the end of this milestone to take inventory of the year's accomplishments, you will be able to find a place for me in the gain column of your budget. As you grow to be the men and women of tomorrow, it is my greatest desire that you will remember the fundamental principles which I have tried so hard to keep before you. Honesty, loyalty, to our fellow man, and hard work are the secrets of a successful and happy life. May your vision be ever broadened to the fact that through its citizens only can a community and school become great.

Students of Como, I challenge you in this age of one of the most amazing scientific discoveries of all ages, atomic power and the unsuccessful attempts at making world peace, to be ever on the alert to your duties in keeping this great country free and and a safe place in which to live.

Truth about the Sophomores

Jo Beth Alexander- Conservative manners, will probably "shine" in sports world.

John Nolen Seymore- Little and loud, somewhat of an artist.

Lela Faye Gilbreath- Will likely make "Model Housewife".

Phil Isom- One of those few who does more listening than talking.

Tommie White- Always has a new prank up his sleeve.

Peggy Teer- The girl with a personality few resist.

James Harris- His sportsmanship is of unlimited value.

Joyce Seymore- A little blonde with flashing black eyes.

Zane Acker- The "Casinova" of the class.

Molly Sue Walker- "Bookkeeping is a cinch", says she. "It just takes brain, brawn, and an answer book."

Wayne McKinney- The "Van Johnson" of Como Hi. He has a way with guys, gals and teachers.

Betty B. Staples- The girl about town.

Billie Mattison- "Ole faithful".

Wayman Pullens- "Hoover", the boy from Reilly who plays plenty of basketball.

Ruby Gean Owens- Not as big as a washing of soap, but aims to gain weight someday.

Betty Sue Crabtree- Living proof, that to keep your mouth shut and your nose out of other people's business pays off with A's on report cards.

Betty Joye Jumper- Fair face and full of grace. "Vim, vigor, vitality, and whatnot."
